

EX-GOVERNOR FOSS FACES LIBEL SUIT

Accused by Democratic Labor Leader—Says Liquor Men Are Trailing Him.

(From a Star Correspondent of The Tribune). Boston, Sept. 11.—Ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss, of Massachusetts, must go to trial on a charge of criminal libel, Judge Burke determined to-day. Dennis D. Driscoll, Democratic henchman of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald and secretary of the Trades Union Liberty League, alleged that ex-Governor Foss had criminally libeled him in a statement to the newspapers accusing him of double dealing and conspiring to defeat Mr. Foss as a candidate in the Republican primaries, and to kill prohibition as an issue in Massachusetts. A summons was issued, and a preliminary hearing will be held here this week.

When ex-Governor Foss returned from an outing of 16,000 Republicans to-day he did not seem worried over the prospect of facing a libel suit.

"With apologies to a famous politician," he remarked, "I advised Mr. Driscoll not to sue any man for libel or they might prove it on him."

"Don't you suppose the people of Massachusetts can see that I am fighting an institution that can't live in the same community with free speech?" This thing started the very day I began my campaign. One of the agents of the Massachusetts Brewers' Company attacked me at Onset and called me a liar while I was talking on prohibition. Two years ago when I raised the issue of prohibition by the appointment of a commission on drunkenness my troubles began."

EX-GOVERNOR FOSS

FACES LIBEL SUIT

Twenty-four Hours.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Low temperatures prevail over the Northern states and Northern New England, while the unseasonable cool in the North and West is freezing temperatures the most westward. Freezing temperatures in the eastern Canadian provinces and temperatures near freezing in Montana and Wyoming. Snow fell Saturday in Helena, Mont. Temperatures over the Northern States are unusually high, readings of 90 degrees or more being general throughout the Gulf and South Atlantic states and the Midwest. The weather has been generally favorable in the Northern States since the last snowfall. Weather was generally favorable in the Great Lakes, and it will be generally favorable throughout most of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River basin. The Midwest, middle Atlantic, moderate variable, most northwardly Atlantic and Gulf, light winds.
